chant of Petersburg, died very sudden-iy carly this morning at his residence on Washington Street, supposedly of heart trouble. Mr. Newcomb had dressed and gone to the stable to hitch his horse to drive to his store on Bolarmy when very young, and served throughout the war as a member of the Prince George Cavairy. Thirteenth Virginia Regiment, Chambilss's Brigade. He was a member of A. P. Hill Camp. of Appomattox Commandery, Knights Tempiar and a member and past exalted ruler of Petersburg Lodge of Elks, which has just lost another exalted ruler by the death of Emmett D. Butler.

Mr. Newcomb was one of the Confederate scouts who led General Wade Hampton's cavalry in the famous raid to the rear of the Federal army encamped in Prince George county, in which 2.250 head of fine beef cattle were captured and safely brought to General Lee's lines.

Mr. Newcomb was a man of fine business capacity, genial and kind-hearted, and was widely known and respected throughout this section. He is survived by his wife and three children—Mrs. R. M. Young, Jesse M. Jr., and Miss Alice Newcomb, all of this city.

Happy Experience of Ridgeley Lady, Who Describes Her Own Narrow Escape From Death.

Ridgeley, Tenn.-Mrs. Jennie Estes, of this place, writes: "I want to say some of this place, writes: "I want to say something good for Cardui. I can't begin to say enough. I was sick abed with wowomanly troubles from February until October, and was in very bad condition. The doctor came to see me three or fourtimes a week, but he did me no good. One day I thought I would give Cardui a trial. I had no confidence in it, at all, but I bought a bottle. In a few days I was up and doing my housework. Now I have gained 15 pounds, and am feeling as well as I ever felt in my life. If it had not been for Cardui I honestly believe I would have been in my grave. I advise I safe evening at 5:30 o'clock, at the her home.

Interesting Engagement.

The announcement in Washington yesterday of the engagement of Miss restricted of Miss Carlisle, daughter of Mrs. Calderon Carlisle, and Walter Bruce Howe, of New York, is of much interest in Virginia. Miss Carlisle's mother was formerly Miss Kate Thomas, of this city, and has several times visited relatives in Richmond. She is one of the most prominent girls in Washington society, and her wedding, for which no date has yet been announced, will be a very important society event.

Womanly troubles from February until October, and was in very bad condition. The doctor came to see me three or four times a week, but he did me no good. One day I thought I would give Cardui a trial. I had no confidence in it, at all, but I bought a bottle. In a few days I was up and doing my housework. Now I have gained 15 pounds, and am feeling as well as I ever felt in my life. If it had not been for Cardui I honestly believe I would have been in my grave. I advise I would have been in my grave. I advise all sick and suffering women to take Cardui. It cured me when all other medicines failed."

In the past fifty years thousands of ladies have written like Mrs. Estes, to tell of the benefit received from Cardui. Such testimony from those who have tried and know Cardui surely indicates the value of this reliable woman's remedy.

The regular monthly businesscial meeting of the Philathea Class scial meeting of the Philathea Class of Grove Avenue Baptist Church will be feld this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the lassroom of the church. All members are asked to be present. For quick relief from all forms of womanly trouble, Cardui is the medicine you need. Try it.

Interesting Unveiling.

At the vesper service at St. Joseph's Catholic Church Sunday afternoon interesting unveiling exercises will take place. Three beautiful paintings, just placed on the walls of the church, will be unveiled. These paintings represent "The Resurrection," thirteen feet six inches by five feet in size, "The incredulity of Thomas" and "Christ Delivering the Keys to Feter," each nine feet two inches by five feet.

"The Resurrection" painting has been placed on the west wall of the church, near the Blossed Virgin's altar. This painting was the gift of the congregation, in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Father O'Farrell's pastorate, and designed also to be a memorial of his faithful work. The other two pictures are placed, one on the west wall over the side goors. The paintings are the work of the Italian artist, Cagliardt, Thore will be ad-
